Indoor Conservatory or Office

Feature Name : Crookdale website code 652

Hand made from Schist stone, each and every fountain is unique with no two items exactly the same thanks to the subtly different mix of greens, ochre's and copper tones within the rock.

Available in many designs to suit all tastes and complement all decors, interior water features are becoming ever more popular, not least for the incredibly soothing sounds that they make.

In addition, there are the undoubted health benefits, as a mist maker or water feature acts as an ioniser and humidifier. The increased humidity produced by these units helps combat the arid atmospheres endured on a daily basis due to modern central heating systems, whether in the home or workplace. In the conservatory, this humidity will aid the wellbeing of not just you, but your plants as well.

If you practice Feng Shiu, you will know that a display of flowing water inside the home or office brings success and well-being.

If Aromatherapy is your interest, a small amount of one of the essential oils added to one of our mist maker range and you have the perfect diffuser, not just beautiful to look at but, useful to, the room will quickly fill with your favourite fragrance.

An excellent gift, they are designed as a centrepiece for the home, conservatory or office.

Each of our units are supplied complete with bowl, pump, and where applicable, stones or artificial plants etc. Size (not including light feature) 33cm high x 20cm wide x 20cm deep, 7kg.

Unless stated otherwise, all features showing lights in the picture, have these included.

If used outside a safety circuit breaker should be employed also, the item should either be brought inside during the winter months or, the water should be drained from it to prevent frost damage.
